

Media Information

6th June 2008

IT'S A WIN-WIN FOR TOP AWARD WINNER

Stanton Bonna's hard work to improve Health & Safety has been recognised and rewarded by the British Precast Concrete Federation (BPCF). Under the BPCF Concrete Targets 2010 Health & Safety Scheme, Stanton Bonna has just won two awards: a Gold Award for initiatives on physical safety, occupational health and behavioural safety plus a Red Seal Award for meeting the BPCF's accident target.

Pictured above at the BPCF H&S Awards left-right are: Vince Lunn of sponsor Buildspan, Garry Richardson BBC Sports Presenter, Martin Birkett of Stanton Bonna and David Appleton of the Health & Safety Executive.

Media Information

Another winner as a result of Stanton Bonna's drive to improve Health & Safety is the Macmillan Cancer Support charity. The charity was chosen by Stanton Bonna's Health & Safety Committee to receive a donation for €550. This sum accumulated in the 2007-2008 safety alert scheme when the company made a donation each time an employee highlighted a possible danger.

Pictured here is Amy Jukes of Macmillan Cancer receiving the cheque from Dave Green and Steve Hallam of Stanton Bonna's Health & Safety Committee..

Health & Safety is a critical issue demanding continual improvement and Stanton Bonna are delighted to have received such an accolade from the BPCF and to have helped a charity in the process.

ENDS

m.howitt@stanton-bonna.co.uk